
Images for the \"Random Image\"

Posted by rudolfs001 - 2008/06/06 00:24

I wasn't sure under which category to put this, but I've noticed that the "Random Image" doesn't cycle through many images, so I have a few to be considered for its rotation.

Is it possible to have an trimming function for pictures while uploading them to meet the 700x700 requirement? Also, could there be an option to attach multiple files and pictures?

http://www.myweatherly.com/images/fbfiles/images/volcano_lightning1.jpg

Re:Images for the \"Random Image\"

Posted by rudolfs001 - 2008/06/06 00:26

How do I delete a post?

Re:Images for the \"Random Image\"

Posted by iveta - 2008/06/06 09:00

You can not completeley delete your forum post. You CAN delete the content in your post, leaving the post blank.

If the post is completely deleted, then all the following posts are deleted as well. If you want your post to be deleted, please contact the forum moderator or contact us .

Re:Images for the \"Random Image\"

Posted by Dan - 2008/06/07 18:54

amazing picture Rudy, I wonder if it was a lapsed exposure? I'll bet so. We used to call that "painting with light.."

BTW - Lukas was just notified of his room mate - someone other than the friend he had requested.... he's in a regular old fashioned dorm...."bummer dude"

Maybe I can introduce you and Lukas so you and he could have some more new friends.....all be it from opposite campi (how DO you spell the plural of campus?) You guys would have a lot to talk about!

Dan

Re:Images for the \"Random Image\"

Posted by Dan - 2008/06/07 19:26

amazing picture Rudy, I wonder if it was a lapsed exposure? I'll bet so. We used to call that "painting with light.."

BTW - Lukas was just notified of his room mate - someone other than the friend he had requested.... he's in a regular old fashioned dorm...."bummer dude"

Maybe I can introduce you and Lukas so you and he could have some more new friends.....all be it from opposite campi (how DO you spell the plural of campus?) You guys would have a lot to talk about!

Dan
